Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1500 on Thursday 07 Oct 2021

UK Outlook for Friday 22 Oct 2021 to Friday 5 Nov 2021:
Turning more widely unsettled across the UK, with wettest and windiest conditions remaining to the north and the northwest and more settled conditions to southern and eastern areas. Moving forward, wider dry spells are likely across the country, with the risk of overnight fog which will clear by day. Through this period temperatures will remain near or above average. There is a chance of a colder settled period becoming established by early November.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.